Editorial

The Community Youth Fund Drive is now in its final week. The financial response so far has been very fine but the number of individuals responding has been below expectations. This is also true of Sierra Madre's status in the 7th War Loan Drive. Too many people seem to feel that the war is about over, whereas the fact is we have a tremendous job ahead of us in defeating Japan, according to all of our military leaders. Sierra Madre has gone "Over the Top" in every drive. Let's all buy bonds for Victory and write a letter to Bruce McGill expressing our views on solving youth problems whether we are able to send him a contribution or not.

The sale of bonds in the 7th War Loan Drive in Sierra Madre is lagging, according to Chairmen Dan Reib and C. L. Alspach. Only about 50 per cent has been subscribed to date, while 70 per cent was subscribed in the last loan drive during the same period.

WE MUST NOT FAIL. Buy an extra Bond. You are helping your country and you are getting today's best buy for every available dollar you can spare from actual living expenses.

"DO YOU RECALL?"

Many of our readers have expressed their interest in our Do You Recall column, with news of 15 and 38 years ago. In looking over the paper of June 6, 1930, we were struck with the number of business firms who are still doing business on our main street, and on page 8 we are reproducing this week a number of these advertisements. They are interesting reading and best of all, these advertisers are here to serve you today just as they did 15 years ago.

New Food Stamps Announced

Five new red food ration stamps, worth 10 points each for a total of 50 points, have been validated for the June rationing period, OPA announced today. The newly validated stamps are V2, W2, X2, Y2 and Z2. They will remain valid from June 1 to September 30.

Simultaneous, five new blue stamps became valid. Each worth 10 points for a total of 50 points. These stamps are D1, E1, F1, G1 and H1. These stamps also will remain valid until September 30.

With the validation of the new red and blue stamps, 11 stamps, six red and five blue, became invalid on Saturday, June 2. Red stamps cancelled on that date were Y5, Z5, A2, B2, C2 and D2, while blue stamp cancellations were H2, J2, K2, L2 and M2.

Sugar stamp 36 will remain good for five pounds through Friday, August 31, OPA said.

◆ The last class in Nurse's Aids starting before October will be in Pasadena at the McKinley school, Oak Knoll at Del Marr. The class will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., in a seven-week term. For any further information call Mrs. Sewall Clark, Red Cross chairman of Nurse's Aids in Sierra Madre, immediately as there are physical examinations to be taken before enrolling in the class which will start next Monday, June 11.

DO YOU RECALL?—The above picture of the Roberts Market in 1930, located at 10 W. Central Ave., across from the P.E. Station, is a part of "Do You Recall" on page 8 where the advs. are reproduced as they appeared 15 years ago, in 1930.

194 PINTS OF BLOOD ON WAY FROM SIERRA MADRE

60 Appointments Not Kept

All persons connected in any way with the Blood Bank which operated Friday afternoon at the Woman's clubhouse feel like mentally patting themselves on the back for the success of the affair.

Dr. John L. Woehler, general chairman of the Blood Bank, and acting chairman, Mrs. R. E. Wright, express a sincere gratification for the support preceding the Bank and the co-operation of the many typists, secretaries, nurses, nurses' aids, canteen workers, hostesses, the appeal of Bruce McGill's adv. and the people who helped in many special ways.

The operation of the Blood Bank was a marvel of efficiency and graciousness. The Mobile Blood Bank took away 194 pints of blood, 207 donors responded, 13 of whom were rejected for physical reasons. Two hundred thirty-six Sierra Madreans made appointments for last Friday and we regret to announce that 60 of them failed to keep the appointment. They neither phoned nor sent word that they could not come. However, 31 patriotic citizens, seeing the big Red Cross unit car parked in front of the clubhouse, came in voluntarily and asked if they might donate.

There are a few observations which are interesting to note: Of the 194 donors, two were 13th timers, Fred LaLone and Joseph Grippi (they have donated every time the Bank has been in Sierra Madre); three twelve timers, the gallon and a half givers, Margaret Senour, P. R. Penn and Viola Hamilton; 11th time donors, Boyd E. Keith, Mercer Duff, R. C. Robinson, Ethel M. Henderson, Bruce McGill, Janet Wood; the gallon club, Patrick Kenney, Elizabeth Keith, Helen R. Wilson, Betty Newton, Gladys Ruble, Marshall Mendel, Leila Embree, Jesse Aratin, Roy H. Pickett.

The following donated for the first time:

Sarah P. Lefevre, Robert E. Toms, Elaine Cavalier, Evelyn Berkshire, Goodrich K. Simmons, Harold J. Spears, Helen Tobias, Grace Cohn, Myrtis Waite, Marian Rowland, Julia E. Davis, Ralph L. Tyrrell, Marjorie M. Green, Margaret Buchan, Norma Henson, Robert W. Anderson, Hedrick Stuflick, Ione E. Ward, Luetta Walsworth, Betty Spinks, Mary Irish, Leonard Haynes, Mary R. Rubio, Bruce Nottingham, Vonnie Ross, Gwynne Allen, Vera A. Gebb, Lillian Anderson, Marian B. Gale, Theodore Proctor, Esther Graffis, Doris Eby, Ray H. Price, Bob Handa, Harry O. Leonard, Katherine Davis, William Berg, P. E. Lombard.

JOHN VAN DEN BROEKE MADE AN EAGLE SCOUT AT COURT OF HONOR

John Van den Broeke, 17, has brought distinction to himself and his home city. Monday evening at the Court of Honor held at the Congregational church John was made an Eagle Scout, the highest award which may be received in the Scouting program. His father, A. Van den Broeke, made the presentation. To become an Eagle Scout a boy must have received 21 merit badges, 13 required badges, and he makes his choice from 110 useful accomplishments. When John was asked to name his best-liked merit awards he gave, bird study, camping, pioneering, swimming (meaning life-saving), cooking (preparing meals for family of four), machinery, poultry and pigeon-raising, and study of government operations.

When Scouting equips a boy for life with accomplishments as it did John Van den Broeke there is little more to be said about the Youth Fund. The above program leaves little question as to why the Youth Fund should be supported.

John is a member of Explorer Post 108, under post advisor, Luke Gervais. Members of Troop 1, under Harry G. Caskey, received four second-class awards and seven merit badges; Troop 2, under E. J. Osterman, received one 2nd-class award; Troop 3, under Larry Appleford, received four 2nd-class awards, two first and one merit badge. Explorer Troop 108 received two merit badges.

THERE WAS A MAN

There was a man in our town
Who was so wondrous wise,
He bought a stack of "E" Bonds,
And much to his surprise,
When he got old and could not hear
And when his eyes grew dim,
The Bonds increased in value and
Were very good to him!

Bond Salesmen Can Win Catalina Trip

Dan Reib, co-chairman of the 7th War Loan Drive, states that any person selling $5000 or more of Bonds is eligible for a 24-hour trip to Catalina Island.

This includes a tour on a fine steamer, all meals, lodging, movies, dances, a visit to the Mercantile Marine Training Base on the island, admission to the museum where Jap bombs, balloons and numerous trophies are on exhibit and other interesting experiences.

CHECK FOR $1,000 IS OFFERED COMMUNITY YOUTH FUND DRIVE

Support of Youth Drive an Inspiration

"There is something absolutely heart-warming in the messages which accompanied many of the contributions to the Community Youth Fund," said Chairman Bruce McGill. "Financial is not the only support which will build a Youth Center; co-operation and commendation work wonders," continued the chairman "I hope the Youth supporters will meet my challenge and I have to pay the thousand dollars." Here are a few excerpts:

Only wish I could make it more, wishing you success in your undertaking . . . please apply this to the building. I think it a grand thought . . . we are pleased to be able to help out a little; a very grand idea . . . it was nice to know of the grand things that are being done for the young people in Sierra Madre . . . enclosed herewith, my mite for Youth Activities. Thank you for the opportunity . . . I admire your helpfulness in all good works in the community and am glad to give you a little support . . . when I am able I shall send a voluntary contribution for the youth project . . . I am so glad something tending toward permanent headquarters has been started . . . I feel the town and the club should be very grateful to you. Edith Woodruff, secretary to Congressman Hinshaw, writes: "I can't imagine how anyone could resist that ad of yours in last week's Sierra Madre News. At least I can't." And thus the good letters came in.

Mrs. Turner Needs Aid Making Hospital Tray Cloths

Mrs. Edward Clinton Young, chairman of Red Cross Camp and Hospital, announces that Mrs. Elizabeth Turner will be at the Red Cross Chapter House Friday morning, June 8, from 10 to 11; also Friday, June 15, same hour, with material for the hospital trays. The tray cloths are for Army and Navy hospital patients. The material will be cut to the exact size and ready to take home and crochet a simple edge. Mrs. Turner hopes to soon have several hundred ready to send. Also if you have linen, not too thin, if you will bring it to Mrs. Turner she will be able to send more tray cloths.

SAME PEOPLE GIVE EVERY YEAR; McGILL BELIEVES ALL SHOULD CONTRIBUTE

The slogan for this year's Community Youth Fund Drive, "Most of us can give a five-dollar bill—all of us can give something—those who can, will, I know, give more," was chosen by Bruce McGill, chairman of this year's drive, as representing a true picture of the situation in Sierra Madre. As the drive enters its final week, Bruce reports progress to date as follows:

"Two groups have responded better than I expected. First, those whom I would classify as 'all of us can give something.' Sometimes, with only a letter, sometimes with one, two or three dollar bills enclosed, money which they worked hard to get, but they wrote a few words of encouragement. One letter in particular, with no money enclosed, but with an expression of hope for a better world for our boys and girls; a hope that through this effort in our community, our boys and girls would learn to work, as well as to play, and that they would have character and honest courage. To me, a priceless letter; a large and generous contribution to this Community Fund Drive. Another letter with a check enclosed expressed real concern about all play and no work; but at the same time this man realized that those who are working with the boys and girls in Sierra Madre, are making an honest effort to correct this very situation; therefore he gave his share. It is so easy to dodge your honest responsibility to boys and girls, by just saying 'kids today have too much anyhow.' Then, there is the group which I would classify as 'those who can, will I know give more." They too have responded most generously. Those who gave $50 last year, gave $100 this year. Some $25 givers went to $50; some $10 givers went to $25. In no case so far has any 'above the average' contributor lowered his donation to me.

"Now, as to the largest group, those whom I would classify under my slogan as 'most of us can give a $5 bill'—they have NOT responded as I had hoped they would. Either I have failed to present the situation clearly, or else too many people are indifferent about our boys and girls.

"I have said many times and I repeat now, 'There Is No Such thing as Juvenile Delinquency.' But there is a lot of Adult Delinquency; a high-sounding title for Adult Indifference.

"An intelligent effort is being made in Sierra Madre to solve youth problems. Telling the kids to 'go cut lawns' is not the answer. They should cut lawns, yes—but why not create a situation where they will want to cut lawns? It can be done. I have a son 14; he is very fortunate because among other things he has a horse. We try to ride together every Saturday. One day I couldn't ride with him and suggested that he ride alone. He said "I'll cut the lawn today—maybe we can ride together tomorrow." I'm terribly proud of that lad, even if the lawn was a little ragged. Boys and girls respond to love and proper guidance, whether they have a horse or not.

"Five busy people, intelligent, loyal citizens, representing a fine cross-section of this community, have agreed to serve on a Youth Commission now being formed by our City Council, to give freely of their time to plan a definite program for boys and girls. The program is broad in scope; from "tiny tots in a wading pool, kids in school—the "teen-agers"—and the "older folks." But, there is one obstacle to this program—Adult Indifference.

"As a final effort to overcome this adult indifference, I make this proposition to the people of Sierra Madre. If 700 people (less than 50 per cent) out of the 1721 to whom I have written a letter asking them to take part in this program, will answer my letter before next Thursday, whether they enclose a contribution or not, criticism—constructive or otherwise—will be greatly appreciated, if people will just take the time to write, 'I'm not interested,' even that will count. If I get 700 answers to my 1721 letters with a large check or a small one, or a dollar bill, or with no money at all, then I will gladly make a contribution to the Community Youth Fund in the amount of $1000.

"How much money you give is less important than how many take part in the intelligent planning for our boys and girls—tomorrow's leaders."

Respectfully submitted to the people of Sierra Madre.
BRUCE McGILL, Chairman,
Community Youth Fund Drive.

The "Fighting Yanks" need the extra lift you give by buying extra bonds—the Seventh War Loan.

As True Today as 15 Years Ago

The following letter was found during a clean-up at the News office last week. Apparently, citizens felt the same then regarding our youth problem as they do today. This letter could easily have been written this week, rather than on July 9, 1930:

July 9, 1930.

Editor, The News.
Dear Sir:

Have you been over to Arcadia lately? It makes me blush with shame to see a town the size of Arcadia having a fine athletic field, lighted up at night, hundreds of young people thoroughly enjoying themselves on the basketball courts, the tennis courts, the baseball diamond, the regular golf course, etc., and then to realize that our city of Sierra Madre must be satisfied with two tennis courts. We have plenty of land down on Grand View Ave., and it wouldn't be such a job to break up the boulders and make that spot something to be proud of.

We have hardly one place to send the children for play, and it is about time we woke up.

Don't you think something could be started to see that Sierra Madre does something for her youngsters? I live in Sierra Madre just now, but if we don't soon wake up, I certainly will be forced to leave town, as will many others that I know of.

Sincerely,
U. B. SHIMMER.

(Editor's note: They have left town.)

Girl Scout Court of Awards Friday

Every member of the Girl Scouts, more than a million in all, is being given opportunity to help plan the post-war program of their organization through a questionnaire issued to every Scout group in the nation. The entire membership from the youngest and newest Brownie to veteran members of long-established councils, will take part in planning for more active and dynamic citizenship.

Parents and friends of Sierra Madre Girl Scouts are invited to come and hear more about the citizenship plans tomorrow evening, June 8, at 8:30 in the local grammar school auditorium, where the annual summer Girl Scout Court of awards will be held. How About A Wading Pool For Tiny Tots at the Youth Center?

BRUCE McGILL

The Frog TALKS about ROBERTS MARKET and Things!

The kiss of the sun for pardon,
The song of the birds for mirth;
One is nearer God's heart in a garden
Than anywhere else on earth.
—Dorothy Frances Gurney.

Well, folks, things look more promising here in my department this week. Still no strawberries, and for reasons having to do mostly with UNCLE OPY'S regulations! But the cherries are exceptionally fine (much better than last year); the corn is large of ear and gold of kernel; the Mayflower peaches, while clings, are sweet and tender and juicy (in my opinion the best-flavored of the whole year's crop); the cantaloupes are thick-meated, flavorsome and altogether luscious. And if I can depend on a promise, there will be a few bananas for all of you this week end.

I opine all this stuff is too darn high in price. But the quality is above average, and I know neither you nor I would want the Japs back in my business even if their family-operated, Shinto-devoted farms produced the same stuff at lower prices!

There are other things to talk about though. You want food value for those scarce points! Betty asked me to tell you that natural cheeses like Liederkranz, Camembert, Blue (domestic Rochefort), Edam, Swiss and the like, all contain healthful protein food value out of all proportion to meat—and the point value is relatively low, too!

Also the Delicatessen features a lot of tasty smoked and pickled fish. GOOD for you! My doctor says so!

Now CURLY (looking over my shoulder—and you would think he was my boss) asks what's wrong with mentioning the liquid delight that every epicure associates with good food, namely WINE? Guess he's right at that!

We do have a fine assortment of aperitif, table and dessert wines: imported and domestic Port, Sherry, Muscatel, Sauterne, Claret, Burgundy and Zinfandel. That's the common run. But CURLY says to be sure to mention the INGLENOOK (Napa Valley) table wines as being exceptionally fine. Outstanding among these is Traminer, a soft, white wine, and Gamay, a rich, Burgundy type. Then of course there is Harvey's Bristol Cream Sherry to offer the special guest at the end of the perfect meal—or sooner, if you wish!

To hop around again: Please bring back your empty bags, cartons and other paper containers. The way it looks now, if the Jap War lasts much longer, you'll be rolling your potatoes home. Most of you have been fine about this. Many of you have not. Paper has gone to War! We cannot buy enough containers of any kind at any price to properly serve you.

LES says to tell you to bring in your waste fats. They mean extra red points for you; and most of all, they help to win the War!

Another hop, and a serious one: Pop and Mom are really trying to serve you! Part of their effort has to do with honest weight and honest prices. If at any time you think there has been an overcharge, they want you to check it immediately with the checker!

Finally, don't forget the Community Fund Drive! It is all for the boys and girls, your kids and the neighbor's kids, our future soldiers and citizens!

GIVE A FIVE, NOW.

Around & About

By EDWARD LLOYD VOORHEES

FRANCE—LA COTE D'AZUR. "The Shore of Blue," la Riviera, the Coast of Paradise—call it anything you wish—it is any and all of these, in natural beauty, and in man-made beauty, aided by superb architecture, expert landscape contouring, the arts of painting and sculpture, and the hand of Time—much of time. First, let the atlas fix in our minds its geographical location. The Riviera, it informs us, is the popular name for "a narrow coastal strip of French and Italian territory around the head of the Gulf of Genoa, extending from Canne (France) to Spezia (Italy). Includes cities of Nice and Genova, and many resorts (Monte Carlo, Mentone, San Remo, etc. Name also applies to part of Ticino Valley in Switzerland." It is thus seen that the Riviera is geographically international. It is also an international state of mind and economy—a condition of wealth, luxury, relaxation, pleasure ,and play at the very top, shading down through the artists, the various tourist classes, the profit-seeking middle-class residents, to the servants and manual laborers of both sexes who toil continually and live thereby. Subject to the limitations of taste and economic conditions, however, all classes may enjoy the beauties and the pleasures of these unique regions.

It is of the French Riviera, the proper "Cote d'Azur," that we are thinking now. Leaving behind the mountainous, forest and castle-crowned Italian Riviera, quiet, dignified, and sober-minded in its spacious gardens, and lovely sunny San Remo, celebrated as a smaller Monte Carlo and for its magnificent winter flowers, particularly carnation pinks, which used to be sent by aeroplane to the snow-covered palaces of Moscow and Petersburg, we travel slowly along the ever-changing coast line, the train stopping at all the little seaside places, toward the French border. It is the end of May, 1929, and we leave Italy at the warm and sleepy border town of Ventimiglia, where we are politely and laconically inspected by both Italian and French customs officers. We leave Italy regretfully and enter France expectantly.

The landscape on the French side soon grows noticeably more luxuriant in its vegetation. As the palm trees become more numerous, green grass becomes more prevalent, thicker, and deeper green. From the train window Mentone appears to have every color and every comfort and luxury. A few minutes later comes a glimpse of Monaco with its Marine Museum built by the Prince of Monaco, and a crescent of the beach below Monte Carlo, with its beautiful blue, deep pool and many brilliantly colored beach awnings and tents. A few minutes more of palms, cliffs, blue coves and palatial villas and we are at Nice.

Introduced by a note from the proprietor of my hotel at San Remo I am soon settled in the small and comfortable Hotel St. Godard. I am reminded at once of how clever and efficient are the French business people. By training and example they have become automatically and faultlessly polite, quick, and correct to the last detail. In their business their minds work rapidly, smoothly, and with complete impersonality. Where an Italian might become passionately angry or passionately enthusiastic or passionately compassionate, a Frenchman remains cooly and impersonally logical, rejecting any possible involvement of his emotions or energy beyond the necessity of business. He gives the impression, at least, of taking matters to heart much less than does the Italian. And what economical efficiency here—in the service, the room, the food! There is running water that is always and instantly hot, plenty of comfortable furniture, every object adequate and in its logical place—and the French beds are unsurpassed for comfort anywhere in the world, whether you pay 100 francs or 10. The Directress in charge of the desk most of the time is amazingly young for such responsibility—not more than 18—not only pretty but clever, resourceful, and can tell me in English anything I ask her about Nice. Her good English, in fact, so much amazed me that I had not the courage to practice my halting French.

The prices of food in France were lower than in Italy, and the variety was greater, as was the quantity in the markets. For France is very much better watered than Italy, its rivers many and inexhaustible, and its forest watersheds are many times more ample than those of Italy. This fact also accounts for the amplitude of French dairy products as contrasted with their comparative scarcity in Italy. Another superlative which one must allow to the French is the quality of their cooking and the perfect balance of a French meal. One rises from a typical French dinner neither hungry nor over-stuffed. This is equally true whether you dine at the most expensive restaurant or at a cabman's rendezvous at three francs, on bare table and with sawdust on the floor. Also the same quick efficiency and automatic politeness. After the full-rounded Italian affirmative, "Si, Signore," with every letter pronounced, including the final "e", it is a striking change to the quick French "Oui, Monsieur," in which nearly half the letters are not pronounced. That simple example represents fairly well the difference between the Italian tempo of life and that of the French.

I believe it was the English writer, Stephen Mackenna, who said that the rest of the world is naturally commercial and is trying to become cultured, while the Italians have always been cultured and are now trying to become commercial. In this particular it will take them a long time to catch up with the French, whose farmer and small business man of the bourgeoisie are justly famous for their ability and agility at the absorbing game of capital "turnover." And the women are fully as clever at it as their men—sou by petit sou. One has only to search the scripture of Maupassant or Blazac to find dramatic evidence of this keystone of French prosperity in peace times.

SOUVENIRS OF WAR

Lois Damon of Damon's Sierra Madre Nursery has some vicious-looking weapons which were sent by her husband, Cpl. Don R. Damon, from Germany. They are three knives, all used. One has the name of the owner on the handle. One has an ivory inlaid handle and this one was found in a rats' nest in an old shed while they were looking for hidden ammunition. The other two were acquired in "swaps."

Don was in Paris on VE day. He had a very good camera with him which he found on the ground in Germany. Walking along the boulevard he was stopped by a soldier who begged him to sell the camera. Don didn't want to very much but finally made a deal and sold the camera for $140 cash and a $30 watch. The same day he bought another camera and a German pistol for $90.

Another Boy Leaves on Great Adventure

Parents have a mixture of feelings as the time approaches when their son has completed his preparation for war and starts out. It isn't easy to watch a big plane fade into the western sky, headed for the Pacific conflict, bearing your precious first-born to his "Great Adventure." One Sierra Madre mother expressed her emotion in verse—Mrs. Loraine N. Andrews, mother of Raymond D. Andrews Jr., of the U.S. Air Corps, anticipating overseas duty in the near future:

"OUR BOYS AT OKINAWA"

They have no choice, they must fight and die
On the sea, on the land or in the sky.
They learn their lessons on the field
To strengthen their bodies so spirits won't yield.

They do not plan; they live today.
Tomorrow may not come their way.
They face the facts: they have work to do;
Life is hard but they will see it thru.

They know they must always do their best.
God and their buddies will do the rest.
They fight for the right—or so they're told—
It lifts their spirits as in days of old.
They hide the gentleness they were taught
In their lives now it counts for nought.
They follow the Gleam—an ideal not new—
To be brave, to be strong, whatever there is to do.

YOU MUST SAVE YOURSELF

You—and you alone—will receive the first warning signal that may mean CANCER.

Know the danger signals:

Any sore that does not heal—particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips—

A painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip or tongue—

Irregular bleeding or discharge from the nipple or any natural body opening—

Progressive change in the color or size of a wart, mole or birthmark—

Persistent indigestion—

Persistent hoarseness, unexplained cough, or difficulty in swallowing—

Any change in the normal bowel habits—

See your doctor at once about any of these warning signals . . . don't wait and worry . . . delay may be fatal . . . cancer is often curable if treated in time. . . Early Discovery . . . Quick Recovery.

DO YOU RECALL?

From the files of June 6, 1930

Mrs. Kathleen Lockhart Manning, a Sierra Madre girl, is on her way to New York to accept an honor never before conferred on a woman—to appear before the Metropolitan Opera Co. for a hearing of her own opera, "Mr. Wu." She is the daughter of Mrs. Otis Lockhart, Cypress Ct. She has composed 60 songs, all of which have been published. She studied in Paris and before she was 21 made her debut at Covent Garden, London, knowing perfectly the roles of 22 operas.

After years of effort plans are now completed which will give us a modern east-and-west highway, leading into the Pasadena district. J. O. Smith, president Central Ave, Improvement Assn., says that the opening of Central Ave. through the Hastings Ranch will open a gateway from the west and together with new school house will attract many desirable people to locate here. Prior to that the city was practically cut off and hemmed in on the east by the Santa Anita wash, on the north by the mountains, on the west by the Hastings Ranch and on the south by the Baldwin Estate.

Wistaria visitors left about $10,000 here.

A school on Grove St. is for 23 Japanese children but there are also two white children, Howard Morgridge, son of George B. Morgridge, formerly editor of the News, and Albert Soline, 326 N. Adams.

Members of L. A. Audubon society in a trip here found 52 varieties of birds.

F. H. Hartman celebrated his 20th year of business here. "They had just broken ground for the building in which Tom Tyler's furniture store is located," he said, "and they cleared the ground for the Wistaria theatre building, the morning I bought this store. There was a park full of pepper trees on the north or Baldwin side of our store—trees planted by the late Chloe Jones, head of the schools. On the other side, where Woodson Jones' office is, was an enormous pine tree and then a lot of vacant land, so out of the side windows we could see the P.E. cars come in. That was 20 years ago" (35 years ago now). "When I bought this drug store the population was 1100. We came here because it was the place that most appealed to Mrs. H. and me after two years' search. I have never once regretted our decision. We came here from Muskegon, Mich., in 1908."

A group of young people from Bethany church go out one evening a week to sing outside the homes of people confined to their homes by illness, led by Rev. Ogg and T. A. Jolly.

"I know a view in Sierra Madre that looks just like Switzerland," says Miss Lulu Barker, local artist.

Lindy-Ann, cocker spaniel owned by Mrs. Jack Paschall, 210 E. Highland, nearly carried off by vicious coyotes.

The combination of a winter in Sierra Madre and fishing northern streams is my idea of the ideal life," said Recompense Stanbury as he started on his annual 5000-mile trip with Mrs. S. Every year for 12 years they have taken this trip.

Mrs. Mildred Percy, a young mother of Pasadena, died in a sudden snow storm while attempting to hike up Mr. Wilson trail.

Mrs. John Lowe, 58 E. Carter, won second prize in contest by District Federation of Women's clubs, for best essay on the Bible.

Mock wedding and shower given by Mrs. Roy Pickett in honor of Ethel Tuggle who will marry Carl Knowles. Guests were Mesdames Gibbs, Mercer, Peret, Buie, Bush, Hawthorne, Seifert, Taylor, Parmenter, Battelle, Perry, Langley, Hosford, Evans, Scheeberger, Hill.

Nicholas Rodes buys Dr. Powers property at 65-71 N. Baldwin to erect a new hotel.

Plans made for a new school house.

Mary Emily Allen, Annette Mary Carter and Hazel Kincaid graduate at the University of Berkeley.

Meeting held at the home of Mrs. W. Corum, to discuss paving in the Canyon.

Remember that "American" ends in "I Can."

JUNE 1945

POLICE BLOTTER

That Heasley horse on the loose again . . . Gas stolen from truck parked in yard at 561 W. Grand View . . . Complaint that a neighbor came home late at night, that he cooked and washed dishes and made lots of racket and that the dog barked a lot. The man will cook eggs after this and feed them to the dog . . . Horses on Churchill Rd. reported knocking rocks down above house on Brookside Lane and keeping occupants awake. Owner notified to have the horses throw the rocks in another direction . . . David Viega, 161 Grove, bitten on legs by dog. Not serious . . . Officers called that police dog had someone cornered in a barn. "Someone" turned out to be a "little pussy cat." . . . Mrs. Peggy La Chasse, daughter of C. J. Chunn, 620 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., contracted with a negro to remove palm fronds at rate of 36 cents per frond. In three-quarters of an hour the man appeared at the door and asked for $39.60, declaring there had been 110 fronds removed from the tree. She thought 88 cents a minute pretty steep even for fronds . . . Call that a prowler was prowling. Unfounded. Was the boy friend waiting for his girl friend to take him his lunch . . . Snake, probably rattler, reported. Forester Tom Henderson stealthily stole towards the snake in the grass. He picked a nice large gopher snake up by the tail and put it in a safer place where the lady's cat couldn't harm it . . . Children damaging a house being remodeled at 48 W. Laurel. Plaster gouged, paint poured on floors, etc.

'ROUND THE TOWN

◆ The Duets club of the Congregational church will hold their first meeting tomorrow evening in Pritchard Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Don Millican with Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Schmidt will have charge of the evening which starts off with a box supper at 7 p.m.

◆ Dr. and Mrs. George Tunnell of Washington, D.C., are occupying the home of Mrs. W. E. Edgin, 451 W. Grand View. Mrs. Edgin is leaving for Redondo Beach shortly for the summer. She is retaining her residence in Sierra Madre, however.

FIRE FLAMES

By this time we should be somewhat settled down following the "new toy" excitement. The new fire truck is now in active duty unless something proves contrary to contract. Like all new things it looks and acts very well. There is no reason to doubt that it will continue to "deliver the goods." Despite the appearance of gadgets, the operation is greatly simplified when explained. Much less complicated than that of the old machine. We are very happy over it. We are sincerely hopeful that all is well.

With the present housing, there is some difficulty. When the return of "Old Snort" is made, we are somewhat stymied as to just what to do for the best of all concerned. It is expected that we will be able to put our beloved "Old Snort" away for much needed repairs in order that it can compete with the new one for reliable service. Although old in years, it is surprising what a good going over and paint added will do to such a truck as this one. The cost against the Fire Department for the present will look enormous because of the much needed necessities having to be supplied in a bunch. After once equipped, the cost of operation should then return to normal.

There is some question as to whether a new fire house should be added to the present one or whether a new one should be built in another locality. As long as the fire department is volunteer such as it now is, we should hesitate about building unless we prepare for the future with our plans. There is not much question about the future requiring a regular fire department with men ready and on the job at all hours of the day. This we must look forward to. Just how long this will be is only a matter of opinion and mine is that it won't be long now.

During the process of learning the intricacies of the new pumper, Bob Newbery learned that even with a fog nozzle, Sierra Madre's Fire Department is still "not a one-man fire department." Not knowing that the engineer was gradually raising the pressure, Bob suggested that he be allowed to hold the nozzle alone. All was well until he ventured from the spray to a straight stream. With a pressure of 220 pounds coming through the hose, it was more than a one-man job as he found out. To save himself from being swayed from side to side, our light-weight hero made a flying leap for the end of the hose and held fast until aid came to his side. The pressure was turned off immediately, which was found to be a grand feature of the new outfit. It was necessary for Robert to hie home and get some dry clothing before meeting time.

Because of lack of something—who knows what—there was no fine collection last Friday. Perhaps because the meeting was a special, the real spirit could have "flown out the window."

For the drill of "Old Snort," a run was made to far off from the station region. This was near Oakdale Dr. and Vista Circle. In order to determine the time required for this run, the writer went along. The speed of the truck was perhaps far less than as though on a fire call, but even at that, I was mighty—yes, darn thankful it was our old war horse Steinberger at the wheel. To reach these distances in a reasonable time needs careful and yet fair speed. Too fast is not a fair speed.

While this is being written, we can still boast of not having had a "grass fire." Such fires are expected. Wouldn't is be a grand and glorious feeling to all of us if we went through the summer without one. If such would turn out to be the case, it would be a sure sign that everyone is trying to avoid unwanted fires. Let's keep this in mind. Let's not have a fire this summer. Keep the FIRES OUT.
